A walk through any part of the South Dakota State University campus provides ample evidence of the incredible investment that has been made over the past decade alone.

From new residence halls and academic buildings to a football stadium and wellness center to laboratories and outdoor landscaping, today’s students and faculty have a better place to live, learn and work. Alumni see the tangible signs of a university that is building and preparing for future growth and success.

Arguably, one part of campus that remained largely untouched was on the west side of Medary Avenue, across from the Campanile. That has changed.

The Alumni Green is a two-block development that includes a new Alumni Center and a President’s Home. Between those two structures is a plaza with a rebuilt clock tower and two large monuments featuring reclaimed limestone from the Campanile. On those are hundreds of brass plaques, with names, messages and memories sponsored by donors.

We expect those two monuments will be a popular destination, with alumni and friends soaking up the names and stories behind each of those 2-inch-by-4-inch brass plaques.

Two visionary and generous alumni provided the leadership gifts to move the project forward last May. Since then, they have been joined by more than 100 others. The list of donors grows daily, and should reach 1,000 by the September 15, 2017, dedication.

Words cannot adequately describe the beauty and spectacular views of the Alumni Green. You have to witness it for yourself. We hope you do.

The Alumni Green is one of the most visible changes that began taking shape last year, but it’s far from the only one.

Under the leadership of President Barry Dunn, SDSU remains a university with the highest of aspirations. The unprecedented financial support from alumni, friends and industry partners that has brought SDSU to this point will be needed more than ever going forward.

STATELY Review is the Foundation’s annual report to those supporters of SDSU. The list of substantial investors continues to grow. For that, we are both humbled and grateful.

On behalf of the Council of Trustees and the Foundation staff, thank you!

Sincerely,

Steve Erpenbach ’85

Our VALUES
I CARE about State!

Integrity - We are relentless in our commitment to integrity and ethics. We represent the Foundation and the University with professionalism and dignity always.

Communication - We are transparent and eager to share the SDSU story. We communicate regularly to build trust and uphold our mission.

Accountability - We take personal accountability for our actions and results. We focus on creative solutions and innovative thinking to deliver the greatest impact for the University. We believe a team-centered approach and “can do” attitude are essential to meet our goals.

Relationships - We succeed only through mutual respect, inclusion, and the sincere gratitude of those we work with and serve. We believe collaboration is the engine of greater results. We treasure the passion and loyalty that is unique in being a Jackrabbit.

Excellence - We value, promote and fiercely protect our reputation. We deliver exceptional results and celebrate our success!

One good story deserves another.

Former SDSU Ambassadors still enjoy campus tours

During their three years as SDSU Admissions Ambassadors, Tyson and Nicole Leite gave hundreds of campus tours to prospective students and their parents. However, now busy, young parents themselves, they get another tour each spring provided by the student who receives the Tyson and Nicole Leite Student Ambassador Scholarship.

“We did put that one stipulation in there,” said Tyson, “that being ex-ambassadors, we’d like a tour. That was my favorite part of being an Admissions Ambassador was giving tours. I always jumped at the chance to give a tour of SDSU.”

Nicole said that while they live in Brookings—Tyson is a product service engineer with 3M and Nicole is a second grade teacher at Hillcrest Elementary—they don’t often get to see what’s happening on campus.

“Even though we live in Brookings, and we have season tickets to football, basketball and wrestling, we don’t get to see the campus,” Nicole said. “We see Frost Arena and the stadium. It’s fun to see how the dorms have changed.”

Maybe it was due to Tyson’s engineering background—he majored in manufacturing engineering technology and industrial management—but his favorite part of the tour was always showing off the 3D model of the campus in the Briggs Library.

“We had to go there and see,” said Nicole of their latest tour. “It’s still there. And it’s updated. Tyson was in his glory.”

“I loved, loved, loved showing that,” Tyson said of his days giving campus tours. “We always talk about how it’s a walking campus. I loved pointing out all the buildings, the proximity of the buildings.”

During their time working for Admissions, Ambassadors were required to offer one tour a week, usually on Fridays. They also worked at Jackrabbit receptions around the state and during Senior Day and Junior Day.

“You give five or six tours a day on those days when you have a huge audience that comes to SDSU,” Tyson said.

Students could also put in extra time in the Admissions office. Nicole—an early childhood education major—took advantage of that.

“Juggling work and academics was important to the Leites when they were in school and as they tried to decide how to give back to SDSU.”

With new attention focused on their baby Jackson, now seven months old, smart choices help their gift go farther. The Leites use a match from 3M to fund half the scholarship. Yet, less than 10 years removed from graduation, they are younger than most alumni who decide to fund scholarships.

“We were both very fortunate, attending SDSU, to achieve some academic scholarships,” Tyson said. “Both of us landing here in Brookings and having such a great time at SDSU, we wanted to give back.”
When Don and Carol Bender fall in love, they fall hard. And it sticks.

Don, a Philadelphia native, was in the Air Force at the time, and had just been stationed in Minneapolis after some time in Okinawa. That’s when he went on a blind date with Carol, a small-town girl from Paynesville, Minnesota. The couple married just three months and three weeks later. That was 61 years, four kids, 10 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren ago, and they’ve never looked back.

As Don says, “My life has been better ever since. ”

After a couple of moves, they landed in Brookings in 1975 to start their own business, Falcon Plastics. It wasn’t long before they fell in love again – this time with the South Dakota State University Marching Band, better known as the Pride of the Dakotas.

The Benders had no affiliation with SDSU before moving to Brookings so they were thrilled with everything the school had to offer, especially the marching band.

“The first time we saw the Pride, I was so excited, ” says Carol. “We had lived in Minneapolis, so we were used to big stadiums and big events. The Pride was just wonderful for me. They were so darn good. ”

Don says Carol is the Pride’s biggest fan, and he teases Carol that she cries every time she sees them perform a halftime show.

“She tears up every time, ” he says with a smile, “but they’re happy tears.”

“I do! ” Carol says. “I always say I’m not going to cry, but they just look and act so sharp and they sound so good, I can’t help it!”

Don and Carol Bender fall in love, they fall hard. And it sticks.

As Don says, “My life has been better ever since.”

The Benders have been donating financially for the last 10 years, for anything the band needs. According to David Reynolds, Department Head and Director of Division of Performing Arts and PAC at SDSU, the Benders have helped provide badly needed equipment, and their donations have extended the life of current inventory as well.

“The percussion instruments in the drum line were really showing wear, ” Reynolds says. “With the Benders’ donation, we could refurbish them and extend their life for another five years or so.”

The Benders are just happy to give to their favorite band, saying they don’t do it for the recognition or gratitude – they just want to help people.

“We don’t expect thanks or anything, ” says Don, “but we do get notes from the students, thanking us. It’s nice to hear from them, to know they appreciate it.”

Carol adds, “They seem like very nice kids.”
According to the president of West River Jacks, an SDSU alumni organization, their primary goal is promoting State in the western half of South Dakota.

"Our goal is not necessarily to raise a lot of money," said current president Joe Roby, a 2010 pharmacy graduate. "We're not fundraisers as much as we are 'friendraisers.'"

West River Jacks honor first president with scholarship

If they are as successful at making friends for SDSU as they are at raising funds, the university should be in good shape west of the Missouri River.

The group’s big event takes place each year on the third Thursday of July with a banquet and auction usually in Deadwood. The next day is the group’s annual golf tournament. The events have been so well-attended and raised so much money that the West River Jacks have been able to sponsor five scholarships.

In each case, the scholarship gives preference to a student from western South Dakota.

Roby explained that West River businesses are generous when it comes to donating prizes and auction items for the annual event.

"We get a lot of support from West River businesses," Roby said. "We want to return that support to western South Dakota."

The alumni group has donated two $1,500 Jackrabbit Guarantee Scholarships for West River students as well as two $1,500 scholarships for students in the SDSU West River Nursing Program based in Rapid City.

A $2,000 scholarship for a West River student is offered in memory of Dan Dryden, a founding member and past president of the West River Jacks.

Dryden, who died in 2016, earned his master’s degree at SDSU. He went on to be the business manager for the Rapid City School District and a state representative in the Legislature representing District 34 and serving as vice chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

"He was really one of the primary individuals responsible for getting West River Jacks started," Roby said. "He lived and breathed SDSU."

The organization that Dryden helped found works hard for SDSU, but also has some fun. Roby said football and basketball watch parties are a regular occurrence at Thirsty’s in Rapid City.

If an SDSU academic or athletic event is scheduled for West River, "we raise awareness for the visit," Roby said.

In the spring of 2016 the Jackrabbit football team went to the Black Hills for a scrimmage.

"We helped organize that event," Roby said.

Alumni and friends of SDSU can contact the West River Jacks through the SDSU Alumni Association website at www.statealum.com.

"We're not going to turn anybody away," Roby said. "We just try to help out SDSU by promoting the idea of South Dakota State University."
Trust allows family to give to their children, SDSU

A desire to fund a scholarship at SDSU has led Chuck and Donna Hendricks to create an income for their children as well as a source of funding for the scholarship.

The Hendricks have created a charitable remainder trust to which their assets will be transferred after they both pass. The trust will fund the family’s scholarship as well as pay their children, Lane and Cheryl, an annual income.

Chuck said making annual scholarship donations to the SDSU Foundation “led us to become interested in establishing a more long-term arrangement for funding scholarships. This led to establishing a revocable living trust that would ultimately become a charitable remainder trust to fund scholarships after we are deceased.”

Chucks’ relationship with SDSU began when he enrolled as an engineering student in the fall of 1950. In his third year, he was drafted to serve in the U.S. Army during the Korean conflict.

He returned to SDSU in the fall of 1955 and married Donna on June 1 of that year. A graduate of Northern State in Aberdeen, Donna taught at a one-room school south of Volga. Eventually they moved to a farmstead owned by the Agricultural Engineering Department, working off some of their rent by making improvements to the property.

“We made lifelong friends with some of my classmates who we still stay in contact with,” Chuck said. “Even though we have lived most of our working lives in other states, we still have a fondness for South Dakota and specifically SDSU.”

Cheryl, Chuck, Donna and Lane Hendricks

The Hendricks’ son, Lane, is an engineering graduate from the School of Mines at Rolla, Mo. Daughter, Cheryl, is a graduate of Idaho State University with a degree in dietetics and now a Registered Dietitian. Cheryl has also designated the SDSU Foundation to be a beneficiary of an IRA which will help fund the Hendricks Family Scholarship.

The foundation’s fiduciary principles and ethics were a good fit for our personal standards, and provided an acceptable method for accomplishing our family goals.”

The SDSU Foundation’s 2016 fundraising total of $56,837,518 was generated by 9,559 different donors. The Foundation had its third-largest fundraising total ever in 2016 -- the fourth consecutive year exceeding $50 million in new gifts and pledges. Donors may invest in projects to fulfill an immediate need. Capital projects and scholarships are two of the most-common examples. Others have a desire to create a permanent legacy by building an endowment or including SDSU in their estate plans.

TOTAL ASSETS
(in millions)
The Foundation’s assets have grown by more than $84 million since 2006. That total reflects the pooled endowment, land, real estate and other funds held and managed by the Foundation.

HISTORIC MARKET VALUE OF POOLED ENDOWMENT

The Foundation’s pooled endowment was $36.9 million, as of December 31, 2016. The Foundation manages more than 750 individual endowment funds. The funds are pooled together for investment purposes, yet each endowment maintains its own identity and separate accounting. Amounts available for distribution are calculated annually using a spending formula consisting of percentages (currently 4%) of each fund’s average market value over a period of time (currently 20 quarters).

POOLED ENDOWMENT PORTFOLIO INVESTMENT RETURNS VS. BENCHMARK

The endowment returned 5.2% over the one-year period ending December 31, 2016. Over the trailing 3 and 5-year periods, the endowment returned 1.9% and 5.7%, respectively, net of investment manager fees. The Foundation maintains a diversified portfolio, with an asset allocation of 28% US Equities, 26% Non-US Equities, 17% US Fixed Income, 5% Non-US Fixed Income, 12% Hedge Funds, 6% Real Assets, and 6% Private Equity.

The South Dakota State University Foundation recognizes cumulative financial commitments throughout a donor’s life with membership in its Lifetime Giving Societies. These societies represent our most generous and committed donors. All gifts and pledges—either current or deferred—qualify these benefactors for membership. Through their exemplary philanthropy, these friends and alumni have a special place in the history of South Dakota State University.

Charles L. Coughlin Society

Born in Carthage, S.D., in 1885, Charles L. Coughlin earned an engineering degree from South Dakota State in 1909. For 35 years, Coughlin served as CEO of Briggs & Stratton.

Coughlin provided the financial support to construct SDSU’s famed Campanile, which was completed in 1929. In addition, he was the major benefactor for the Coughlin-Alumni Stadium. He was a lifelong fan of his alma mater and often would return for football games and campus visits.

In honor of Coughlin’s vision for the SDSU campus, the Charles L. Coughlin Society recognizes donors with lifetime gifts and commitments through the SDSU Foundation of $10 million and above.

Theodore W. Schultz was born in Arlington, S.D., in 1902 and grew up on a farm near Badger, S.D. He earned his bachelor’s degree in agriculture from South Dakota State College in 1928. Esther Werth Schultz grew up near Frankfort, S.D., and earned her bachelor’s degree in commercial science from SDSC in 1927.

Dr. and Mrs. Schultz maintained the philosophy that the world’s most important economic resource is the acquired abilities of people. Theodore Schultz was awarded the Nobel Memorial Prize in Economic Sciences in 1979 for his theory on the investment in human capital. The Schultz-Werth Award at SDSU was established in 1964 to promote and recognize the scholarly achievements of undergraduate students.

In recognition of Schultz’s Nobel Prize, the Theodore and Esther Schultz Society honors donors with lifetime gifts and commitments through the SDSU Foundation of $5 million to $9,999,999.

Mildred Stoker White became one of South Dakota State University’s most generous benefactors, even though she never attended SDSU, and her late husband, Roger, attended only briefly. Mildred and Roger were both Sioux Falls Washington High graduates, but the onset of the Great Depression limited their options for college. Together, they built a successful furniture factory business in Pontiac, Ill.

Roger died in 1972. Mildred’s first gift to SDSU was a $40,000 contribution in 1992. That was followed by 14 different gifts over the next 4½ years. In all, Mildred Stoker White contributed $3.6 million to SDSU.

“We were just average people – just hardworking and dedicated to doing our best,” Mildred wrote in 1992. “God was good to us – we realized our ambitions and now it is time to share our good fortunes.”

Mildred Stoker White is the first non-alumni to have a Lifetime Giving Society at SDSU named in her honor. In recognition of White’s contributions, the Mildred Stoker White Society honors donors with lifetime gifts and commitments through the SDSU Foundation of $2.5 million to $4,999,999.
STEPHEN F. BRIGGS SOCIETY

Stephen F. Briggs was a 1907 electrical engineering graduate of South Dakota State. Even during his student days, Briggs' interest was drawn to gasoline engines. In 1909, he established in Milwaukee his first manufacturing company, Briggs & Stratton, in which he continued the development of engines. He served as president and later as chairman of the board for the Outboard Marine Manufacturing Company, especially noted for Evinrude and Johnson outboard engines.

In 1958, he created the Briggs Scholarship program to recognize scholastic excellence among SDSU students. Noted for Evinrude and Johnson outboard engines, Briggs' interest was drawn to gasoline engines. In 1909, he established in Milwaukee his first manufacturing company, Briggs & Stratton, in which he continued the development of engines. He served as president and later as chairman of the board for the Outboard Marine Manufacturing Company, especially noted for Evinrude and Johnson outboard engines.

In honor of the Briggs' prestigious scholarship program, the Stephen F. Briggs Society recognizes donors with lifetime gifts and commitments through the SDSU Foundation of $1 million to $2,499,999.

ETHEL AUSTIN MARTIN SOCIETY

Ethel Austin Martin, a 1916 graduate of South Dakota State and long-experienced in the nutrition field, joined her husband in endowing a faculty chair in human nutrition. Dr. Martin was director of Nutrition Services for the National Dairy Council for 22 years. She authored several textbooks on nutrition and achieved national recognition as a human nutrition professor, scientist and author.

The purpose of the Ethel Austin Martin Endowed Program in Human Nutrition is to promote multidisciplinary and collaborative education and research projects in the areas of human nutrition. Dr. Bonnie Specker is director of the Ethel Austin Martin Program in Human Nutrition at SDSU and is conducting research involving bone parameters in children ages three and four and bone mass among the Hutterite population.

In honor of the Martin Chair in Human Nutrition, the Ethel Austin Martin Society recognizes donors with lifetime gifts and commitments through the SDSU Foundation of $500,000 to $999,999.
William M. Griffith, a 1923 SDSU agronomy graduate, joined the banking business in 1924 and spent a 50-year career at the Farmers and Merchants Bank in Huron. He served as president of the Huron bank from 1947 until his retirement in 1979. Byrne Smith Griffith, a Brookings native, had attended SDSU in the early 1940s and went on to study music.

In appreciation of the Griffiths’ desire to support students, the William M. Griffith Society recognizes donors with lifetime gifts and commitments through the SDSU Foundation of $250,000 to $499,999. CREATE AN ENDOWMENT

Endowments provide an ongoing source of funds to support scholarships and programs today and in the future. An endowment also permanently preserves a donor’s legacy of giving back to South Dakota State. Endowed scholarships may be established with a one-time gift of at least $25,000 or through installment payments paid within a five-year period.
